Dear All,

As I moped home I felt rather good about our group. I feel regret about losing M [redacted] but he has gone to the right level class. Actually, this morning at break, he came to see me to ask if he could come back to our group. I asked him to spend the whole day in his new group.

We will see what happens to M [redacted].

I feel good about the group because 3 woman and 4 men is a fine balance. Before I wondered whether J [redacted] felt a bit on her own.

We also have a good mixture of skills with good writers from Korea and good talkers in K [redacted] and S [redacted].

Did you know that K [redacted] writes stories in his own language?

Did you know that L [redacted] is studying nursing? How many years before you qualify, L [redacted]? Have you done a lot of hospital practice? How big are the hospitals in Korea. I rather like small hospitals- they are more personal.

J [redacted] W [redacted] do the people in your host family speak very fast? Do you understand them when they speak?

A [redacted], you write: " I'm very bad, because I don't speak English yet"..... yes.... but your face is different from the way it was on Tuesday. Sometimes you smile. Your face really changes when you smile. When you laugh your face is really warm.

M [redacted], can you please tell me something about your job. What time do you get to work? Till when do you work? What do you do all day? How many people work for you in your office. Which foreigners do you work with? Please also answer some questions I have not asked!)

Yes, I do feel pretty good about our group- we will be together for the next four weeks and then all the classes in the school will change. In four weeks you can make very fast progress if you really work.

, This week-end please write me a full and interesting letter.

Warmly yours,
Mario.
