

Pilgrims™

English Language Courses

mario@pilgrims.co.uk

06/10/06

Canterbury

Kent England

Tel:

Fax:

E-mail: postmaster@pilgrims.co.uk

Web: www.pilgrims.co.uk

Dear Everybody,

Interested in WORDS? An excellent
Site: wsmi@...org

I was delighted yesterday when Conny raised the question of the feasibility of some of the techniques I showed you yesterday with those 15 year-olds she knows so well.

This kind of lucid questioning is central to a creativity course like this. To me it means a) that Conny is involved and engaged and b) that she wants to go from dreamer mode into that of realists.

We need to discuss feasibility further in the group.

Do you write letters to your classes? I do, regularly.

I often present grammar in a "grammar letter."

I will offer you a couple of examples. Why not use the CB for this. The pronoun system in the CB is inevitably 3rd person while my letter to the group is I → you. Very different in impact.

Warmly yours,

Mario

All business is transacted as per our Terms and Conditions, copy available on request.

Pilgrims' mag for Teachers: www.pilgrims.co.uk
Editor: hania.kryszewska@pilgrims.co.uk

~~Hand~~

B

Alright

He's my son

~~And~~
~~But~~ I don't want him to go deep in to debt
~~or~~ without him ~~realise~~ thinking forward

I don't want him view me as ^{bloody} ~~his son~~

and always ~~ironically~~ ^{ironically} tick me off

I do want him to become a marvellous anthropologist

and reach a position I never shall.

That's all.