

2nd Wed

Dear Everybodies,

Please forgive my writing in this lousy handwriting I have. My father compared it to a hen scratching in the dust and his harsh comment has sunk in it that is just.

I would very much like to take up on your invitation to supper, providing a person from Calabria does not turn up on my doorstep tonight. She will let me know by lunchtime. May I let you know as soon as I hear from her.

This is an interesting cultural situation. I am ever caught between Mediterranean and North Europe norms. Either way I'll get a very good supper!
